MY LORD,

I Beg Leave to acquaint your Lordſhip, that His Majeſty's Ship under my Command, (in Company with the Incendiary,) captured on the 11th Inſtant, off Cape Spartel, a French Privateer Brig named L'Eole, of Ten Guns and Eighty-nine Men; ſhe had been Eight Days from Guelon, in Spain, and had not taken any Thing.

I have the Honor to be, &c. &c. &c.

L. W. HALSTED.

Right Hon. Lord Keith, K.B. &c. &c. &c.

Admiralty-Office, May 3, 1800.

Extract of a Letter from John Thomas Duckworth, Eſq; Rear-Admiral of the White, to Evan Nepean, Eſq; dated on board His Majeſty's Ship Leviathan, at Gibraltar the 11th Ultimo.

ON the 5th Inſtant, in the Afternoon, I diſcovered Twelve Sail from the Maſt Head, but at the Cloſe of the Day could aſcertain no more than that Three or Four were Men of War; I therefore attempted to anticipate their Manœuvres, that I might fall in with them the next Morning, and at Three o'Clock we croſſed on one, which the Emerald boarded; from her I learnt that ſhe had ſailed the 3d Inſtant, with Thirteen Sail, under Convoy of Three Frigates.—At Daybreak we could only ſee a Brig, which was ſo nigh and the Weather inclined to be calm, that I ſent the Boats of the Leviathan and Emerald under my Second Lieutenant, Gregory, to capture her, and after a ſmart Skirmiſh of Forty Minutes they ſucceeded; ſhe mounted Fourteen Guns, with Forty-ſix Men, and bound to Lima; by this Time we ſaw Three Sail, Eaſt, Weſt, and South, in conſequence, the Swiftſure being much to Leeward, I made her Signal to chaſe South, the Emerald Eaſt, and ſtood Weſtward in the Leviathan, with a very light Air, when, at Noon, the Emerald made the Signal for Six Sail in the North Eaſt; this induced me to ſtand directly to the Eaſtward, and at the Cloſe of Day we ſaw Nine Sail from the Maſt Head, it was then nearly Calm, and continued ſo till Eleven o'Clock P. M. when a freſh Breeze ſprang up from the South Weſt, and I ſteered North in hopes of croſſing them: at Midnight we obſerved Three Sail, and as we approached them faſt, at Two o'Clock I plainly ſaw Two of them were Frigates, ſtanding to the N. N. W. and cloſe together, I therefore kept on a Parallel with them, and proportioned my Sail to theirs, that I might commence the Attack juſt before Daybreak; becauſe I feared the Veſſels under their Convoy (which I judged muſt be near) would, on our commencing a Fire, ſeparate, and we might loſe them all; at this Time the Emerald being near, I hailed and acquainted Captain Waller with my Intentions.—At Dawn of Day I bore down upon the Two Frigates, which evidently had taken us for Part of their Convoy, and upon hailing one of them, ſhe directly endeavoured to make all poſſible Sail, as did the other cloſe upon her Bow, on which I directed a Volley of Muſketry to be fired, concluding they would ſtrike; but this not having the deſired Effect, I gave a Yaw, and diſcharged all the Guns before the Gangway at her Yards and Maſts, but it was not ſucceſsful in bringing any of them down; at this Time Captain Waller very judiciouſly ſhot up to the Leeward one, and in a few Minutes we ſo diſabled their Sails and Rigging, that on my being in a Poſition to have fired a Broadſide into them both, they ſtruck their Colours: during this the Spaniards kept up a ſtraggling Fire, and I ſhould not do Juſtice to their Captains were I to omit ſaying, that from the Moment of their diſcovering us to be Enemies they uſed the greateſt Exertions to get off, and diſplayed a Gallantry in commencing an Action with ſuch a ſuperior Force, as might be truly termed Temerity, for I evidently could have deſtroyed them. You will find by their Return of Killed and Wounded they ſacrificed many Lives. It was near Half paſt Five when they ſtruck, and I directly made the Emerald's Signal to chaſe the Third Sail, which appeared to be the other Frigate; but ſoon after diſcovering Seven more, and it being doubtful whether the Emerald (whoſe Copper is very bad) would come up with the Frigate, I made her Signal to attack the Convoy, which Captain Waller in a very Officer-like-Manner executed, and before Night had Poſſeſſion of Four of the largeſt. As ſoon as I had ſecured the Frigates, and put them in a State to make Sail, which took near two Hours, I gave chaſe to the other Frigate, but after four Hours the Wind dying away, and not appearing to gain on her ſo as to expect Succeſs, I hauled towards the Emerald, and in the Afternoon took a Brig; it then becoming quite calm, and continuing ſo till after Dark, I ſaw no more of the Enemy; and the next Day joining the Emerald, I made for this Port with the Prizes, and arrived ſafe with them all the 10th in the Morning, when I found the Incendiary had arrived the previous Day with Two of the Stragglers that ſhe had fortunately picked up in looking for me. In this Tranſaction I truſt their Lordſhips will believe, that nothing in my Power was left undone to ſecure the whole of a Convoy ſo important to the Spaniards. The two captured Frigates which were bound to Lima with Quickſilver, are completely ſtored for ſuch a Voyage, and recently coppered. On board of the Carmen the Archbiſhop of Buenos Ayres was a Paſſenger. I herewith ſend you a Liſt of the Prizes, with their Force and Deſtination.
